What attracts you to this organization? I am eager to become more engaged with the Oregon PRIMA chapter because I value the opportunity to collaborate with peers and contribute to the advancement of the risk management profession. I believe Oregon PRIMA plays an important role in supporting professionals through education, networking, and shared best practices, and I would like to actively contribute to that mission.

What are some of your prior board and/or volunteer experiences, or leadership roles? I have been very active in the Santiam Section of the ASSP, serving as Chair and in several other leadership and support roles. I have also contributed to my community through service on local neighborhood association boards, helping to strengthen communication between residents and government. In addition, I have volunteered extensively with youth sports, including Little League and booster clubs, where I have focused on building inclusive, supportive programs for young athletes and their families.

What skills, connections, resources, and/or expertise do you bring with you to this organization? I bring a blend of professional expertise in risk management, hands-on leadership experience, and a collaborative approach to problem solving. My work in both public entities and volunteer organizations has given me practical insight into risk, compliance, and organizational dynamics. I also bring a network of professional connections across public sector organizations in Oregon, which I believe could strengthen collaboration and knowledge-sharing within Oregon PRIMA.

Do you have any concerns about joining our board? I don't have any concerns. I view this as an opportunity to both contribute to and learn from fellow professionals. I know that board service requires time and commitment, and I am prepared to dedicate the necessary effort to be a reliable and engaged board member.

Is there anything you think you would need from the organization to make this experience a successful one for you? Clear expectations, open communication, and opportunities for collaboration will be key to making this a meaningful and productive experience. I value a team-oriented approach, and I believe that with mutual support and transparency, we can continue to build on Oregon PRIMA's success.
